

Partnering with NREL to address the challenge of integrating renewable energy to the electric grid

A partnership, including OMNETRIC Group, CPS Energy, Duke Energy, the University of Texas San Antonio and Siemens, is working to design power distribution platforms that enable the grid to better respond to changing conditions.

